Geophysical survey, watching brief and trial excavations before building of new church hall, revealed P Med use of site, mainly associated with church extensions. (2)
Mostly of 1896-1911 by Naylor & Sale. It incorporates part of the medieval church, namely its dark grey W tower and its S aisle and nave separated by an arcade with octagonal piers, restored in 1872 by T. C. Hine. The nave has become the inner S aisle of the new church. The chancel [is] C14. (4)
There was no aisle on the north side. [In] the 15th century ... the mason was set to work again to raise the walls of the nave and to make a range of clerestory windows. A new arcade of four bays was erected. (5)
Parts of the building belong to the early 13th century, or even the late 12th. The priest's door ... piscina and aumbry are Early English. Considerable alterations took place in the early years of the 14th century. The building of the tower [was] at the beginning of the 16th century. (6)
